SURVEY ON ABANDONED HOUSES OF REFUGEES AND MIGRANTS FROM VENEZUELA IN COLOMBIA, ECUADOR AND PERU

done between August

9 and 22 of 2022

COUNTRIES: Colombia, Ecuador,

ORGANIZATIONS of the Regional Protection Sector

Learn more about the survey results at: https://www.r4v.info/ abandoned-houses

DIFFERENTIAL IMPACTS

63.4% of all owners were identified as women

52% of the household members that abandoned their houses in Venezuela are women

48% of the household members that remain in the 30.6% of the household members that remain in the house in Venezuela are boys, girls, and adolescents

80.2% Colombia 79.6% Ecuador 62.6% (4) Peru

Population groups most affected by the risk of abandonment and housing abandonment

Abandoned houses

Most representative characteristics by country of the households included boys, girls, and adolescents of the households include lactating women belong to an ethnic group of the households include people with physical or mental disabilities of the household include people with critical or chronic medical conditions

COLOMBIA

12.7% people with critical or chronic medical conditions

Critical or chronic health

ECUADOR 11.3% lactating women

PERU 15.6% lactating women

Are men

Include boys, girls, and condition, WITHOUT adolescents access to treatment or medicine

Have a physical or mental disability

32.5%

Belong to an ethnic group

Are elderly

Houses in risk of abandonment¹ of people with vocation of permanence:

Critical or chronic health condition, WITH access to treatment or medicine

8.8%

